To whom it may concern,

It sickens me to see Microsoft get away with corporate murder "for the good of the people"

It sickens me to read a verdict from a judge that finds guilt with Microsoft practices and no "real" punishment is given.

It sickens me to see Microsoft continue its backstabbing tactics, unfairly squeezing out competition all while putting on a sham in the courtroom and public media purporting their innocence.

It sickens me that as "punishment" Microsoft gets to give away "free" software which in reality gains them new customers and benefits them.

It sickens me to know that no matter what happens, the punishment will be inconsequential to Microsoft and will not discourage continued illegal behaviour.

It sickens me to know that our Justice Department is teaching future business leaders that the "Microsoft way" is the best way to do business in America.

Shame on you all.
